ANNUAL REPORT OF THE
SECRETARY OF THE
TRAINING-SCHOOL FOR NURSES.
FOR 1886.

THE Managers of the Bellevue Training-School for Nurses in presenting their annual report are deeply grateful for the blessing and success which have been vouchsafed to the School.

While viewing its present prosperity, we are tempted to glance backwards, and find in the first report of 1874 these words by the Secretary : "Only those who have been interested in the Training-School from its first inception until now can understand all the difficulties that beset its path, all the opposition to be encountered, the prejudices to be conciliated, and the old things to be swept away to make place for new ones," and then closes with these words : "We earnestly hope to make this great Hospital the centre from which shall go forth to all parts of our country trained, skilful, intelligent, and tender nurses."

How impossible it is for us who now see the fulfilment of those fervent aspirations to realize the fears and hopes of that small Committee who, in May, 1882, collected with much difficulty six pupils around a Superintendent, and, with a grave sense of their responsibility, assumed the nursing in three wards of Bellevue Hospital.

But these brave women were full of faith, and knowing that the sick and dying were ever with us, went forth to their mission of mercy, encouraged by the kindly advice of many of our most distinguished medical men.

In 1886 we report the School filled to its utmost capacity with women of education and refinement, pursuing with earnestness the course of training in Bellevue Hospital, which offers to them a career of the widest influence and a profession acquired under the ablest physicians and surgeons in this country, and providing an assured means of livelihood.

With the more exact methods which modern science has introduced in the treatment of diseases, a demand for more-intelligent and better-trained nurses has become widespread, and the class of women who are applying for admission to the School shows how many there are throughout our land who would gladly avail themselves of such an education as is obtained only in a large hospital.

The full number in the School (64) is always maintained. Twenty-eight have graduated this year.

There has been each month an average of thirty formal applications ; from these 48 were selected : 31 are now members of the School ; 11 were not retained—the month of trial proving that they were not suited to the work, either from feeble health or from want of interest in their required duties.

We regret to say that one nurse, after receiving the full training of a year, broke her engagement to remain the two years and dishonorably left. This agreement to stay during the full time of instruction is not legally binding, but is seldom broken.

We mention with deep gratitude that the health of the nurses has been exceptionably good during the year. No serious case of illness has occurred, which is an unusual record for a family of more than seventy persons (including servants), when we consider the surroundings and circumstances which attend our nurses.

The Insane Pavilion was placed under the care of our nurses in March, and the continued firmness and gentleness of their experience have greatly added to the comfort of the poor unfortunates who are temporarily placed at Bellevue while waiting for medical examination.

The graduates of our School now number, including those of this year, 272. During this year eight have married and two have died. One of our graduates has become Matron of the State Insane Hospital at Poughkeepsie ; two, Superintendent and Assistant Superintendent at St. Luke's Hospital, Chicago. Another graduate takes Miss Brown's place (who is married) as Superintendent in Cook County Hospital, Chicago.

The changes and additions are recorded in the list of graduates.

Two more nurses have gone to join the "St. Paul's Home for Trained Nurses" at Rome.

Miss Martin, the Superintendent, writes "that they have removed to a larger and more commodious house (62 Via Palestro), where some patients can be received, and with larger opportunities they hope to do more good and to be a greater blessing to the travelling public."

During the present year there have been 920 calls for nurses—an increase of more than 100 over 1885. In most cases they have been filled.

The registry for nurses is of great service both to the nurses and to the physicians and employers, as it furnishes information of a reliable character as to the nurse and her present engagements.

A resolution was passed in March by the Medical Board of Bellevue Hospital asking the Commissioners of Charities to place all the male wards under the care of our nurses.

The matter was carefully considered by the Managers, but it was decided that they could not furnish these nurses from the present staff, and to enlarge the School necessarily requires more rooms for nurses than our present building affords, and more money to pay from our funds. It is hoped that in the near future a generous public will enable us to adopt this important measure.

Bellevue Training School cannot be self-supporting, as the city does not pay for all the nurses employed in the Hospital (such being the case in other schools), and but few are sent to private cases, most of our nurses being needed for the patients in the Hospital.

It is also unsectarian, and cannot depend upon denominational support. We would therefore urge its claims upon the generosity of our friends and the many into whose homes our nurses have gone and proved so valuable.

The Course of Instruction continues about the same. The regular lecturers were :

Dr. Wylie, on Obstetrics.

Dr. F. S. Dennis, on Anatomy and Emergencies.

Dr. Griswold, on Diseases.

Dr. Biggs, on Physiology and Hygiene.

In addition, Dr. Wildman has lectured on Insanity, and Dr. Cray has given some lessons to the graduated class on Anatomy.

The Managers would cordially offer their thanks to the Medical Board of Bellevue Hospital, to the House Staff, and to the Warden of the Hospital for the courtesy and kindness shown to the officers and pupils of the School.

It is with profound sorrow that the Managers record the death during the year of two of their most valued and honored medical advisors—Dr. Austin Flint and Dr. Gaspar Griswold.

Dr. Griswold, with an intense devotion to his profession, passed suddenly away in his early manhood, beloved by all. As a lecturer and examiner, by his sympathy and enthusiasm, he inspired his students with a love for and an earnestness in the work so dear to him.

Dr. Austin Flint, from the formation of the School to the closing week of his active life, extending over a period of thirteen years, was the devoted friend and counsellor of the Managers.

They feel that it is in a great degree through his acknowledged ability and influence that the Training-School has become so great a power of good throughout this land.

Can we more appropriately close our report than by quoting a few sentences from his address delivered to the graduating class in 1882?—

“Bellevue Hospital is known throughout the world as one of the great schools in Clinical Medicine. Herein is the best possible security to patients for the employment of all the resources of medical and surgical science. The opportunities thus afforded for a Training-School for Nurses have now been utilized, and in this respect the public owe to it a debt of gratitude. Let us hope, then, that in these educational aspects the public will recognize more and more the benefits affecting their own interests, and let us hope that a proper valuation of these benefits will lead to a more liberal provision for increasing the usefulness of the Bellevue Training-School for Nurses.”

Respectfully submitted,

MARY DE WITT CUYLER,

Secretary.

REPORT ON MISSIONARY NURSES CONNECTED WITH THE FEMALE BRANCH OF CITY MISSION.

District nursing is now so well understood, it is not necessary to give in detail its requirements or offices. Only the love of God and humanity could induce a woman having a lucrative profession, promising comparative ease and refined surroundings on other lines, to undertake it. Yet, those that have tasted the joy that comes with such close following in the steps of the Great Physician, by ministering to the poor in His name, are not desirous of giving it up for work calling for less self-sacrifice.

The wonderful exemption of our nurses from contagious diseases, and indeed any sickness, gives occasion for frequent remark and great thankfulness.

We have not been able to add to our number the last year, though we need one or two more nurses, that this department may keep pace with other branches of our work.

In the districts where our nurses have been longest employed, the people consider their presence and opinion "almost as good as the doctors," and would often place responsibility of treatment of patients in their hands, which, of course, they are not willing to assume.

During the past year, we have been able to induce a larger proportion of our sick to enter hospitals, though many hours have been wasted in efforts to convince others of the advantage to them of removal from unhealthy surroundings.

We have had 1,376 cases under our care during the year, 70 of them were taken to hospitals, and of the whole number only 58 have died. Two hundred and sixty-two of these were confinement cases. Consumption comes next in order as regards numbers.

Eight hundred and thirty-three garments have been given to increase the comfort of patients, and 240 articles loaned. Seven thousand three hundred and twenty-six visits have been made, and $1,288.55 spent for nourishment and medicines, besides large quantities of suitable food that has been sent in for the purpose.

ADDRESS TO THE GRADUATING CLASS.

BY

DR. WILLIAM T. LUSK.

IT is now sixteen years since I first became connected with the Bellevue Hospital. It was then the leading general hospital of the city. The old New York Hospital had been sold, and the new building had not as yet been erected; the Roosevelt had been but just opened; the Presbyterian was in process of construction; and the Mt. Sinai was a small institution in West 28th Street. As a consequence, Bellevue Hospital was always overcrowded. To its wards were sent most of the cases of acute surgery occurring among the city poor, and it contained the largest maternity service in the country. In both the surgical and maternity wards infectious diseases were very prevalent, and the death-rate was disgraceful.

In the year 1873 there were 449 women confined in the lying-in department, of whom 25 died and 22 suffered from severe puerperal affections which ended in recovery. Of minor puerperal ailments no record was kept. In commenting upon this sorrowful record I then stated that an abundance of light and air, plenty of free space, generous diet, plenty of washing, a rigorous discipline maintained in the management, intelligent nursing, and constant watchfulness on the part of the attending physicians were among the most important means of preventing and suppressing epidemics. On the contrary, with limited room, ignorant nurses, and lax discipline, fatal results would prevail in spite of pavilions or the most expensive machinery for ventilation. But in those days the lying-in wards were notoriously overcrowded; the necessary supply of linen was meagre; while members of the house-staff often commenced their term of service fresh from the care of patients suffering from erysipelas and septic diseases. But it is of the old-times nurses that I wish especially to speak to-night. They were without exception a hideous crew, callous to suffering, and brutally indifferent to death. Upon my own service, as I recall them, one was addicted to the use of opium, another was decrepit with years and wholly imbecile, and a third I always think of as the embodiment of every thing that was wicked, cruel, mean, and mercenary. Under these conditions, Dr. Fordyce Barker, in his work on "Puerperal Diseases," estimated the frequency of puerperal mania in the Bellevue Hospital as one to 80, whereas, in Wurzburg, Scanzoni reported only one case to nearly 1,500 confinements. In my clinical report for the year 1873, I had occasion to refer to the difficulty of keeping under control the suicidal propensities of the more desperate of the unmarried mothers, and stated that "if some means could be devised to provide a future for the better disposed, and persons could be found to take a humane interest in their welfare, a great addition would be made to the medical resources of the hospital." In those days, with memories still fresh of the tender, loving care bestowed upon the inmates of foreign hospitals by sweet-faced, devoted Sisters of Charity, I implored the ruling authorities to invoke the aid of the Catholic Church to remove this black stain upon our native hospital management, but such a change, I was informed, might be ethically correct, but that it would be bad politics. Fortunately, however, in this land of timid statesmen, private initiative proves adequate in the end to supplement the defects of the governmental machinery. A striking illustration of this is to be found in the formation of the "Training-School for Nurses" in the Bellevue Hospital, an institution which has been blessed by capable management, and which in its far-reaching results has no rivals among the charities of our city.

In the year 1878 I performed the first successful ovariectomy in the Bellevue Hospital. Up to that date the operation was regarded as impracticable. Now our results in abdominal surgery are certainly not excelled by those of any institution in the country. In the last four years there have been nearly one thousand confinements in the Emergency Hospital, without one death from puerperal infection. In former times the maternity department was periodically afflicted by visitations of so-called "nosocomial malaria," in which many patients sickened with non-fatal diseases, but which often left the victims life-long invalids. These, too, have become a thing of the past.

The improvements referred to I unhesitatingly attribute to the trained nurses. In saying this I do not ignore the claims of modern science and the revolution that has been wrought in hospital management by the teachings of Pasteur, of Koch, and of Lister. Sixteen years ago we believed in walls that were saturated with death-producing poisons. Now we know that it is the hands, the instruments, the sponges, the things which come into contact with the patient's person, that in surgical cases convey disease, but the attention to details that are the requisite of absolute cleanliness demands a degree of intelligence and care that are only possible under a perfected system of nurse training.

Moreover, a remarkable change has taken place in the morale of the patients. Bellevue is no longer regarded by the helpless poor as a penal institution. There is no such efficient medicine for the sick as tidiness, system, and order. Because of these things the poor now eagerly avail themselves of our hospital privileges. Where in old times we had sullenness and fear we now have serenity and peace. It is a recurring source of wonder to me to note the confidence with which patients undergo the severest operations, feeling sure, as they do, that they will receive the same care, the same watchfulness, the same consideration that is commanded by the rich in their own homes.

It must be a special source of gratification to the ladies who have invited me to address the graduates to-night, to feel that by the contagion of their example the blessings I have enumerated are now the property of hospitals scattered all over the country. I need only to refer to the excellent school established by the Commissioners of Charities and Correction in the Charity Hospital, to the schools at the New York and Brooklyn hospitals, to those in Boston, Philadelphia, and Chicago, schools in many cases organized and supervised by women trained at Bellevue.

Too much praise cannot be awarded to those who have given of their time, of their intelligence, of their wealth so much already to the success of this great benefaction. There is one fact, however, which cannot be passed over in silence. Because of inadequate means, in the male wards, with one exception, the old system, mitigated and improved, no doubt, but the old system still, is in existence. It does not seem possible that when the public of this great, generous city understand your needs, and the eminent worthiness of your charity, an abundant endowment will not be forthcoming to enable you to carry your work to full completion.

To the young women who have received this evening the diplomas which testify to their fitness for independent work, I extend on the part of the profession of which I am a humble member, a hearty welcome. You are to be our trusted auxiliaries at many a bedside. In many struggles with death we will owe often our success largely to your discretion and untiring zeal. In entering the ranks of an honored guild you have escaped from the monotony of an aimless existence. At the outset of your career you will not, thanks to the prestige of your Alma Mater, to have to wait for recognition. Unlike other professions, you will not have to struggle against the discouragements with which for long years most have to contend, but at once will take your place at the right hand of the physician, with your training respected and prized by the community at large. In your new field of activity you can do much to increase the esteem and welfare of the School from which you graduate and to which you owe so much. A few are spoiled and become untrue to their calling because of the ease with which their successes have been won. Do not become too exacting about your personal comforts. Be patient with the fretfulness of the sick. It is good breeding to expend your best efforts upon all, whether rich or in humble circumstances, whether refined or vulgar, with whom you come into contact. Sickness is a great leveller. All are God's creatures, but even Peter had to be warned in a dream before he could bring himself to enter the house of the hated Roman soldier. Be faithful, therefore, to the traditions in which you have been trained. They will best save you from temptations to acts of indiscretion and folly. Friends have been alienated from the Training-School in times past because of the selfishness and bad manners of graduates who have failed to realize their obligations. It is not, however, for me to dwell upon the shortcomings of a few, but in the spirit of prophecy to congratulate you, in parting, upon the noble, useful, and lovely career of benevolence which your education in the wards of Bellevue has pre-eminently fitted you to pursue.

REGULATIONS FOR TRAINING-SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

The Committee of the Training-School for Nurses has made arrangements with the authorities of Bellevue Hospital for giving two years' training to women desirous of becoming professional nurses.

Those wishing to obtain this course of instruction must themselves apply to the Superintendent of the Training-School, 426 East 26th Street, New York, either in person or by letter, upon whose approval they will be received into the School for one month on probation. The preferable age for candidates is from twenty-five to thirty-five years. The applicant should send, with answers to the paper of questions, a letter from a clergyman testifying to her good moral character, and from a physician stating that she is in sound health. Applicants are received at any time during the year when there is a vacancy, except in July and August. During the month of trial, and previous to obtaining a position in the School, the applicant must be prepared for an examination in reading, penmanship, simple arithmetic, and English dictation. The examination is to test the applicant's ability to read aloud well, to write legibly and accurately, to keep simple accounts, and to take notes of lectures. This amount of education is indispensable for a member of the School, but applicants are reminded that women of superior education and cultivation, when equally qualified as nurses, will be preferred to those who do not possess these advantages.

The superintendent has full power to decide as to their fitness for the work, and the propriety of retaining or dismissing them. She can also, with the approval of the committee, discharge them at any time in case of misconduct or inefficiency. During the month of probation the pupils are boarded and lodged at the expense of the School, but receive no other compensation. They are not expected to wear the uniform of the School, but must come provided with dresses of washing material for use in the Hospital. All clothing must be plainly marked.

Those who prove satisfactory will be accepted as pupil nurses, after signing the following agreement :

"I, the undersigned, hereby agree to remain two years in the Training-School for Nurses as a pupil nurse, and to obey the rules of the School and Hospital."

They will reside in the Home, and serve for the first year as assistants in the wards of Bellevue ; the second year they will be expected to perform any duty assigned them by the superintendent, either to act as nurses in the Hospital, or to be sent to private cases among the rich or poor.

The pay for the first year is $7.00 a month, for the second year $12.00 a month. This sum is allowed for the dress, text-books, and other expenses of the nurse, in connection with her work, and is in no wise intended as wages, it being considered that the education given is a full equivalent for their services. They are required, after the month of probation, when on duty, to wear the dress prescribed by the Institution; which is of blue and white seersucker, simply made, white apron and cap, and linen collar.

The day nurses are on duty from 8 A.M. to 8 P.M., with an hour off for dinner and additional time for exercise or rest. They are also often given an afternoon during the week, and have a right to the half of Sunday. A vacation of two weeks is allowed each year.

As the Institution is unsectarian there are no religious services connected with it, except evening prayers, and all nurses are expected to attend the place of worship they prefer once on Sunday.

COURSE OF TRAINING.

The instruction includes :

1. The dressing of blisters, burns, sores, and wounds; the application of fomentations, poultices, cups, and leeches.
2. The administration of enemas, and use of catheter.
3. The management of appliances for uterine complaints.
4. The best method of friction to the body and extremities.
5. The management of helpless patients; making beds; moving, changing, giving bath in bed; and preventing and dressing bed-sores.
6. Bandaging, making bandages and rollers, lining of splints.
7. The preparing, cooking, and serving of delicacies for the sick.

They will also be given instruction in the best practical methods of supplying fresh air, warming and ventilating sick-rooms in a proper manner; and are taught to take care of rooms and wards; to keep all utensils perfectly clean and disinfected; to make accurate observations and reports to the physician of the state of the secretions, expectoration, pulse, skin, appetite, temperature of the body, intelligence—as delirium or stupor,—breathing, sleep, condition of wounds, eruptions, formation of matter, effect of diet, or of stimulants, or of medicines; and to learn the management of convalescents.

The teaching will be given by visiting and resident physicians and surgeons at the bedside of the patients, and by the Superintendent, Assistant Superintendent, and Head Nurses. Lectures, recitations, and demonstrations will take place from time to time, and examinations at stated periods.

When the full term of two years is ended, the nurses thus trained can choose their own field of labor, whether in hospitals, in private families, or in district nursing among the poor. On leaving the School they will, after passing the final examination, each receive a diploma signed by the Examining Board and by a Committee of the Board of Managers.

This day the Nurse has been sent on the recommendation of to nurse in case of

Superintendent.

REGULATIONS.

The charge for the services of a nurse is $3 a day, or, if employed one week or more, $16 per week. Travelling expenses and washing to be paid by the family employing the nurse.

When the nurse's services are no longer required, this sheet of paper is to be returned, sealed up, with a candid statement, on the fly-leaf, of her conduct and efficiency, either from one of the family or the medical attendant, together with information of the amount to be paid, and whether it is enclosed or will be paid at the office of the Society.

The nurse is to be allowed reasonable time for rest in every twenty-four hours; and when her services are needed for several consecutive nights, at least six hours in the day out of the sick-room must be given her.

Except in cases of extreme illness, the nurse must be allowed opportunity to attend church once every Sunday.

When on duty the nurse is always to wear the dress prescribed for her by the regulations of the Society.

Patients and their friends are invited to contribute to the general funds of the Society, and thus assist in enabling it to afford the advantages of gratuitous nursing to the poor, which is one of the objects the Association hopes to accomplish.

Where it is possible, a few days' notice of the nurse's return to the Home should be sent to the superintendent.

BELLEVUE REGISTRY FOR NURSES.

The Managers of the Training-School have established a registry for their graduates, where medical, surgical, and obstetrical nurses, and those competent to take charge of nervous patients, can be obtained by applying either in person, by letter, or telegram, to the office of the Society, 426 East 26th Street.

The terms of the registered nurses are $20 per week, for contagious cases $25 per week, unless special arrangements are made with the nurse for more or less pay.

A list of these nurses will be found on page 44.

1. The fee is $10 a year, due after January 1st.

2. Nurses are to keep the superintendent informed of their place of residence, and when they are ready for a call, and also when they have accepted a case, either obtained from the office or from any other source.

Postal cards addressed to the office will be furnished for this purpose.

3. Nurses, while in attendance in the sick-room, are to wear a cap, apron, and a dress of washing material, unless the patient or family object, or the circumstances of the case render such a dress inappropriate.

4. Nurses are to report to the office when, from sickness or any other cause, they are obliged to leave a patient who still needs the services of a nurse, so that their place can be supplied as soon as possible.

5. It is the duty of a nurse to take the care of the patient's room, if her time is not fully occupied by the patient; and also to make herself generally useful and acceptable to the family.

6. Before making an engagement a nurse should mention her terms, or if that is not practicable, then, as soon after as convenient, and when an engagement is once made, she should consider herself bound to keep it, and not be induced to break her word in order to please a patient or to secure a more advantageous position.

If any graduate of the School in charge of a case has proved unsatisfactory, the employer is requested to report the fact to the superintendent.

The regulations for employers are the same as those generally used in registries for nurses:

1. Travelling expenses and washing are to be paid by the employers of the nurses, unless some different arrangement has been made between them.

2. A meal should be provided for a nurse when she is required to be awake all night.

3. When it is necessary for a nurse to care for a very sick person for several nights in succession, she should be allowed not less than six hours' sleep during the days.

4. When taking entire charge of a nervous patient night and day, though a nurse may not lose her sleep, it is better for both patient and nurse that she have some time for exercise in the open air apart from the patient.

It is not expedient to multiply rules, as they are not all of general application, and many details must be regulated by the circumstances of the case. We only ask for the nurses the consideration and kindness due to those who contribute so much to the comfort and well-being of members of the family.

CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS OF THE SOCIETY.

ARTICLE I.

The Society shall be known by its incorporated name of "THE TRAINING-SCHOOL FOR NURSES." (Incorporated February 5, 1874.)

ARTICLE II.

The object of the Society, as defined by its Charter, is "the selection, education, training, and providing of suitable persons as nurses for the sick."

ARTICLE III.

The Society shall report monthly and annually in writing to the "New York County Visiting Committee for Bellevue and other Public Institutions," a branch of the State Charities Aid Association.

ARTICLE IV.

The Society shall consist of Honorary Members, Benefactors, Patrons, Members, and Associate Members.

ARTICLE V.

The Officers of the Society shall be a President, a Vice-President, a Secretary, and a Treasurer. They shall be elected annually by a two-thirds vote, by ballot of the Board of Managers, from among its Members. In case of the death or resignation of an Officer, a successor for the remainder of the year may be elected by a two-thirds vote, by ballot, of the Board of Managers, at any Regular or Special Meeting of the Board, two weeks' notice having been given in writing to the Members by the President or Secretary.

ARTICLE VI.

The President shall preside at all Meetings of the Board of Managers, and shall call Special Meetings at discretion, or upon the written request of three Members. The President shall name the Members of Standing and Special Committees, and shall appoint, annually, an Auditing Committee of two gentlemen, Members of the Society, but not Members of the Board of Managers, to examine and report upon the Accounts of the Treasurer.

ARTICLE VII.

The Vice-President shall, in the absence of the President, perform the duties of the President.

ARTICLE VIII.

The Secretary shall perform the duties usually appertaining to this office.

ARTICLE IX.

The Treasurer shall receive, invest, and take charge of the funds of the Society, and shall make written Monthly Reports to the Board of Managers, of the condition of the Treasury, and a written Annual Report to the President, at the Annual Meeting of the Board of Managers.

ARTICLE X.

There shall be a Board of Managers, consisting of not less than eleven Members. Five Members of this Board shall be Members of the New York County Visiting Committee for Bellevue and other Public Institutions. The Board may make its own By-Laws, and fill vacancies in its own body. The Board may, by a two-thirds vote, remove any Member for cause. It shall prepare the Annual Report, and submit it to the Society for approval at the Annual Meeting. It shall hold its Annual Meeting just previous to that of the Society. No Member of the Board of Managers shall receive a salary nor any compensation for services rendered. Five Members of the Board shall constitute a quorum at any Meeting.

The absence of any Member of the Board of Managers from Meetings of Committees of which he or she may be a Member, for a consecutive period of three months, without giving notice to the Secretary, may be considered by the President as equivalent to a resignation.

ARTICLE XI.

The Board of Managers shall control the management of the School, shall have power to appoint and remove the Superintendent of the School, and shall determine the salaries of all nurses and subordinates.

ARTICLE XII.

There shall be a Committee upon Nominations, composed of the President and three Managers. The names of persons eligible for Managers of this Institution shall be presented to this Committee, and in the event of vacancy in the Board, this Committee shall report and recommend the party or parties eligible for election. After such nominations by the Committee, one month shall elapse, when the election shall take place by ballot at any Meeting at which two thirds of the Managers are present.

ARTICLE XIII.

The Finance Committee shall, with the Treasurer, manage the finances of the Society.

ARTICLE XIV.

Honorary Members shall be chosen only for important service and valuable aid rendered to the School. They shall be exempted from the payment of all dues. They shall be nominated by the Board of Managers, and elected by the Society at its Annual Meeting.

ARTICLE XV.

Benefactors.—Any person who shall give One Thousand Dollars at one time to this Society shall be entitled to all the privileges of membership, without the payment of annual dues. A Benefactor shall have the right to nominate two pupils, who, upon conforming to the rules for admission, shall have preference over all other applicants to the first two vacancies, and be received and trained in the School.

ARTICLE XVI.

Patrons.—Any person who shall give Five Hundred Dollars at one time to this Society shall be entitled to all the privileges of membership, without the payment of annual dues. A Patron shall have the right to nominate one pupil, who, upon conforming to the rules for admission, shall have a preference to the first vacancy, and be received and trained in the School.

ARTICLE XVII.

Members and Associate Members must be nominated in writing by a Member or Associate Member of the Society; the name of the proposed Member and the Proposer being sent to the Secretary, to be submitted for approval to the Board of Managers. If elected, and upon payment of annual dues, he or she shall become a Member or Associate Member of the Society. The annual dues of a Member shall be ten dollars, of an Associate Member five dollars, payable immediately after election, and subsequently in January of each year. Members shall be entitled to two votes at all Regular and Special Meetings of the Society, and Associate Members to one vote.

ARTICLE XVIII.

Members and Associate Members may at any time commute all annual dues for life by the payment of One Hundred Dollars, and Fifty Dollars, respectively.

ARTICLE XIX.

The Annual Meeting of the Society shall be held on the second Wednesday of January. The fiscal year of the Society shall be the calendar year.

ARTICLE XX.

The By-Laws of the Sub-Committees must be in accordance with and subordinate to the By-Laws of the Board of Managers. The By-Laws of the Board of Managers must be in accordance with and subordinate to these By-Laws of the Society. These By-Laws can be amended by a two-thirds vote of Members of the Society, or by a majority of the Board of Managers, at any Regular or Special Meeting, the text of the proposed amendment having been sent to each Member a fortnight previously by the Secretary.
